COVERS RICHEST GOLD AREA IN CALIFORNIA

Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L.

A bilious electorate turned down Ham and Eggs again Tuesday. Owens and Kindig's proffer of a benevolent dictatorship was decisively rejected, two to one, by California's citizens. Owens states he will continue the battle next year, which bears out predictions made in this column. Unless the people of California take immediate steps to curb Utopian promotions of this kind, by either legislative enactment or constitutional amendment, we shall be plagued annually by Owens and Kindig or their successors in interest. There is a fat living for scoundrels in the guillibility of wishful thinkers as our initiative and referendum laws now stand.

By the time Federal authorities conclude their probing of Messrs. Kindig and Owens, however, and the two promoters have made their accounting to the State it is just possible that they will not be in a position to offer leadership next year into the promised land of Ham and Eggs.

The chiropractors who desired to take a short cut to full fledged medical practice were also downed in midfield without getting anywhere near the goal line. They must continue their jobs as humble masseurs and be content with tinkering the human spine.

The oil measure which has been generally regarded as an effort on the part of Governor Olson to pay his political debts to the CIO and Standard Oil received another crackdown from the electorate.

The "familiar spirit" of the Governor's office during the last session of the legislature was Harry Bridges. He was perched there like the outside guard of the "I Will Arise" lodge of colored brethren. When Bridges sneezed Governor Olson blew his nose. It was in this environment that the oil control bill was hatched and enacted.

Nevada County, which last year turned down Ham and Eggs by the modest majority of 700 odd votes, this time voted more than two to one against the scheme. Assorted "poll watchers" sat in many of the county's polling places to challenge votes or exercise whatever function is legally permissible to such persons, but no untoward incident marred the day's voting. It was reported that these "watchers" were dispatched from the CIO parlor in Nevada City's Chinatown. This would seem to confirm advertisements against Ham and Eggs, which boldly stated that the measure was backed solidly by communist organizations.

These lonely "poll watchers," some of whom were recognized, undoubtedly helped to roll up Nevada County's majority against Ham and Eggs. Voters were reminded by their presence of their unpleasant activities of last year. Every precinct in the county except two beat the scheme. While the state defeated the measue a good two to one, Nevada County did better. The vote stands 2499 for, and 5089 against. The county committee of Citizens against Thirty Thursday, is to be congratulated on doing a thorough job of education.

In Truckee, where the CIO have flourished at intervals, Ham and Eggs took its worst beating when only 61 votes were mustered for the measure, and 202 voted against it. Somehow, it would seem, the CIO nest in Truckee has been befouled.

Nevada City beat Ham and Eggs more than three to one. The total vote in the city's five precincts stand at 274 for Ham and Eggs and 889 against it. This was better than the state or county average. It may be reasonably deduced from this vote and by a perusal of returns from other agricultural and mining communities that the traditional American spirit of sturdy independence and self reliance, has again been demonstrated at the polls.

We note with mingled pleasure and pain that Governor Olson is now threatened with recall by the Hollywood Ham and Egg outfit. While we think he deserves recall for his betrayal of the Ham and Eggers, we deplore the instrument used. As a matter of fact the governor is so rapidly wishing himself into the past tense, with his various antics, ranging from the removal of the relief headquarters from San Francisco to Los Angeles and his pardon of two notorious murderers, to his present three-ringed circus prison investigation, that it would seem more reasonable to let himself off the political stage, than to give him the hook.

Death Ends Service of Waldemar Lindgren, Famous Geologist

Dr. Waldemar Lindgren, world famous economic geologist, died at his home in Brighton, Massachusetts, on November 3. To no other man is the mining community of Nevada City and Grass Valley, more indebted than to this geologist whose surveys, studies of the mineralized zones of this section are of basic value in all mining development. His work in Nevada county was only the beginning of a long and distinguished career. An appreciation of his life and work has been prepared for the Nugget by Mr. H. P. Davis, well known engineer and author: It follows:

By H. P. DAVIS

The death of Waldemar Lindgren, internationally known as one of the world's most eminent economic mining geologists, was an irreparable loss to the mining world in general and to the Massachusetts Institute of Technology with which institution Dr. Lingdren had until his death, been associated.

Nowhere will Dr. Lindgren be more sincerely mourned than by the old timers of the California gold districts, particularly of this area where in 1893-94 he was engaged in the field work on which was based his extraordinary enlightening and accurate report. The Gold-Quartz Veins of Nevada City and Grass Valley, California, and The Nevada City Special Folio No. 29. both published by the United States Geological Survey in 1896.

In the introduction of his report on the Nevada City-Grass Valley district, California's most productive gold mining area, Dr Lindgren acknowledged his special obligation to E. C. Uren, W. F. Englebright and W. W. Waggoner "for much valuable information and cooperation."

Mr. Waggoner and Mr. Englebright, each of whom later contributed much essentially valuable material towards the elucidation of the problems of the area, have also passed away, but many people here who had the great privilege of knowing Dr. Lindgren, including the writer, can, in addition to grateful acknowledgement of the value of his reports and maps, testify to his charming personality and never failing kindness to those who came to him seeking information or advice.

Dr. Lindgren was born February 14, 1860, at Kalmar, Sweden. At the age of eighteen he entered the Royal Mining Academy at Freiberg, Saxony, which founded in 1765, is the oldest advanced technical institution in the world, and had then for more than a hundred years been the leading educational institution in the field of mining, metallurgy and geology.

After graduating with the degree of mining engineer, and special work in metallurgy, Lindgren sailed for America where, in 1883, he was appointed as assistant in the Northern Transcontinental Survey of the Northern Pacific Railway. When, a year later this survey was disbanded he worked as assayer in smelting plants at Helena, Montana, and at Anaconda.

In November 1884, he secured a position as assistant geologist in the world's greatest geological organization, the United States Geological Survey, a connection which continued for 31 consecutive years. Lindgren held the position of assistant geologist, 1884-95, geologist, 1895-1915, and chief geologist, 1911-12, U. S. Geological Survey, an administrative position which he relinquished in order that he might give more time to constructive scientific studies, and to his writings and lectures.

In 1912 Lindgren accepted appointment as William Barton Rogers Professor of Geology and head of the Department of Geology of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

PHEASANTS IN NEV. COUNTY CAN NOT BE HUNTED

Game Warden Earl Hiscox warns sportsmen pheasant season is closed in Nevada County. it being one of the sections closed in order that the birds may get a chance to establish themselves. However quail season opens on November 15.

Errol MacBoyle, of the Idaho-Maryland Mines company, released 200 chuker partridges last year and the birds disappeared into the woods. He is rearing another 200 this year and will release them as soon as bird hunting season is over or the last of the year. Wild pigeon season opens on December first and lasts until the 15th. It seems to be the habit of partridges to disappear for a season or two and then to reappear in great numbers. The birds multiply rapidly. All of the Idaho-Maryland mines company property is a preserve for wild game and a portion is allotted for a deer paddock.

HYDRAULIC ASSN. MEETS TODAY IN BRET HARTE INN

The California Hydraulic Mining Association will hold a regular meeting today at Bret Harte Inn, Grass Valley at 2 p. m. The directors have decide to hold the meeting on Friday because Saturday, the regular meeting date, is on Armistice Day.

F. M. Harris of North San Juan spent several hours in Nevada City yesterday.

ROTARY IS TOLD STORY OF FLAG

The Rotary heard an interesting discussion of the Star Spangled Banner at luncheon in the National hotel yesterday. The speaker was William Richards of Sacramento. He described the circumstances under which Francis Scott Key, author of the words of the national anthem, composed them. It was written on the morning of September 14, 1814, while he an involuntary guest upon a British gunboat that he wrote the famous poem. shortly after he had glimpsed Old Glory still flying at dawn over Fort McHenry after the heavy bombardment from British warships.

It was printed a few days later, and on September 25, it was set to music and shortly afterward was being sung in taverns, theatres and at public meetings. The music is age old and was taken from the fellowship song, of an ancient Greek society, which closed its meetings with it, much as Rotary now closes its luncheon meetings with a song.

Cecil Klee, scout master of the Rotary Boy Scout troop, reported that the troop has now reached its maximum membership of 32. Tonight there will be a court of honor in the court room of the court house over which Judge Jones will preside. All Rotarians were urged to attend.

CHLORINATED CITY WATER IS NOW AVAILABLE

After three days of work Street Superintendent Herbert Hallett and his crew have placed the new city chlorinating plant in the Canada Hill reservoir in operation. A building to house the plant and pipe laying took considerable time. The try out was satisfactory and as soon as the rains start the chlorination plant will be placed in operation. This plant will cost the city about $600. Another plant is to be placed in the main reservoir to the north of Nevada City in the spring.

The Canada Hill reservoir is used only during the winter months. As soon as irrigation season starts in the spring the northern reservoirs are in use. The Canada Hill reservoir is sometimes used as a booster reservoir during the summer and otherwise is not in use.

Hallett will test the chlorinated water twice a day.

Alfred Nicholson, charged with the rape of Veda Murch, yesterday was absolved of all blame by the jury which brought in a verdict of not guilty after deliberating for an hour and ten minutes.

The trial began Wednesday in the Superior Court with the selection of the jury and presentation of testimony. The following witnesses testified for the people: Dr. Paul B. Barnes, Veda Murch and Elsie Mae Murch.

The defendant Alfred Nicholson, Dr. J. W. Reeder and Mrs. Ida Bawes were defense witnesses.

Final arguments by District Attorney Stoll for the people and Jas. Snell for the defendant were presented yesterday morning.

The jury consisted of: Frank O'Hare, Adeline E. O'Conner, Walter A. Besson, Harold James Crase, William G. Palladay, Frank A. Wilson, Mildred C. Rodda, Roy Stanley, Ovid E. Hope, John P. Richlin, Loyle E. Freeman, Arthur H. Emery.

MRS. HATTIE LEGG ACCIDENT VICTIM

Holmes Ambulance service was called early yesterday morning to move Mrs. Hattie Legg to the Nevada City Sanitarium to receive treatment for a broken leg which she had suffered in a fall a short time before. Mrs. Legg is over ninety years of age and the injury is near the hip which is quite serious for her advanced years. Hopes for an early recovery are expressed by the many friends of Mrs. Legg and her family.

Twin Cities' Stores Close Tomorrow To Honor Soldier Dead

Twenty one years ago; in an obscure little corner of a forest in France representatives of the Allied nations met a German delegation and concluded the agreement of the Armistice. This was the armistice which brought an end to the most tragic war in all history. Twenty-one years ago—on November 11, 1918—the world rejoiced as never before. In its delirium of happiness, of relief, of new faith and hope for humanity, men and nations celebrated what was honestly believed to be the birth of an endless era of peace.

For twenty years we have annually observed the anniversary of that Armistice Day. For twenty years we have paid annual tribute to the men who died in the World War. Annually we have dedicated ourselves to a pledge for continued peace. Today we must rededicate ourselves to this noble purpose and bind ourselves anew to that great ideal which means peace for America—with permanent and lasting security for its people.

In keeping with the spirit of Armistice Day, let us do all we can by example and precept—to lead the people of the world in the paths of peace. Above all else, let us travel these paths ourselves by keeping faith with the promises we have made to those who died in the World War. We made a solemn and sacred promise their sacrifices were not made in vain—that the blood they spilled in No Man's Land the people of America have written an eternal pledge of peace for this nation and its people.

With God's help let us keep that pledge.

For the past twenty years the people of Nevada County have observed Armistice Day; stores were closed; business at a standstill while we remembered the veterans who paid the price that made Armistice Day possible. We, the Veterans of Nevada County have always been proud of the right to say we are from Nevada County, we appreciate the help you have always given us, of the beautiful memorial building you had built in Grass Valley, and the building under construction in Truckee; they show that you appreciate what we tried to do for you and for ourselves; win for the world a lasting peace.

The closing on Armistice Day is optional, it has always been optional and before you make your final decision to keep your place of business open this year, ask yourself what did I gain or lose by closing these past twenty years; and if you believe it cost you money to close Armistice Day, we ask you that you visit the Veterans Memorial building in Grass Valley and look again upon the pictures of William Hague, C. C. Thomas and William Hegarty and ask yourself what did it cost those friends of mine to make Armistice Day possible. The final decision is yours.

Downieville Road Aid Is Promised By State Commissioner

By CARL STARKEY

Residents of Nevada and Sierra counties and civic leaders interested in the dangerous "road of a thousand curves" were jubilant this week over the statement made Monday evening, by Iener Nielsen, member of the California Highway Commission, that he and Amerigo Bozzani, also a member of the commission, would do all in their power to have the hazards removed from the Downieville highway.

Nielsen said, "I believe that Mr. Bozzani and I can convince the commission of the need for improvement of the highway."

These words, the first assurance Nevada City people have received that some definite action would be taken, were received by a capacity crowd at the St. Charles hotel dining room in Downieville. The meeting followed a tour over the road by the commission, conducted by a delegation of the Nevada City Chamber of Commerce consisting of President Emmett Gallagher, Secretary H. F. Sofge, Cliff Robbins and Carl Starkey.

The commissioners were particularly impressed by the tortuous stretch of road between Nevada City and North San Juan and the fact that the big, new streamlined school bus must travel the road daily carrying scores of children to and from Nevada City schools.

Although fatalities have been few, it was pointed out to the commissioners that it was only because of extreme precautions taken by the drivers that major tragedies have been averated.

Nielsen warned the meeting that the budget had already been submitted by their predecessors and it would be difficult to raise the money. He said, however, "If we can find money in the budget now or in the next few months, I promise that some of the dangerous curves will be eliminated."

If the funds are not readily available at this time, the commissioner also promised that when the next budget is prepared "we will do all in our power to make the highway a better highway."

Nielsen also made the statement that traffic accidents go hand-in-hand with road improvements. Citing instances where fatalities have trebled on roads converted into high-speed highways he said, "When better roads are made—damn fools will drive them."

The dinner-meeting held at the St. Charles hotel in Downieville was attended by 75 persons, including the entire board of supervisors of Sierra county. Wallace F. McPhee, principal of Downieville high school, presided as toastmaster.

That the need for the new road is recognized by engineers was emphasized by Commissioner Nielsen when he quoted C. H. Purcell, state highway engineer, as saying that the Nevada City-Downieville highway needs improvement and needs it badly. Purcell, who achieved fame by designing and supervising the San Francisco bridges, is recognized as the foremost authority on highways in the country; and, according to Nielsen, his word carries a lot of weight.

SMOKE SMUDGE IN COURT HOUSE

Noble McCormack, Jr., deputy county clerk, it is reported had occasion to go to the court house at 1:30 Sunday afternoon and found the building full of smoke when he opened the front door.

Upon investigating he found the furnace burning and instead of the smoke going up the flue the door had in some way opened and oil was pouring on the cement floor causing a heavy smudge. The Nevada City fire department was called and cleared up the trouble.

Bill Curtis, retired P. G. & E. employee, came up from Auburn and is visiting relatives and friends in this city.

Give Thanks

Thanksgiving approaches again this year, and on this occasion the presence of war abroad makes more important than ever our American habit of pausing for a day and counting our blessings. Even the difference of opinion this year concerning the date on which the event will be celebrated points to something American for which we ought to be thankful—the democratic right to disagree about matters involving us solely as individuvals.

What, in 1939, are some of the things for which it is worthwhile to pause in whatever we are doing at the moment and list some of the reasons we are glad that we are Americans.

We should be thankful, most of all, for two precious heritages our forefathers gave us, heritages that it is worth everything in the world for us to preserve. These two fundamentals are freedom and opportunity. They are characteristic of America in a manner and degree not matched in any other land.

We should be thankful, in a world at war, that we are at peace with all nations, and that there exists in this country, a public will to peace. We should be grateful for our system of representative democracy, which guarantees the fact that this public will to peace will be heeded.

We should be thankful for the high standard of living this country possesses for the fact that its real wealth, which is measured in terms of automobiles and radios and the material objects that all Americans can use and enjoy, is more widely distributed than is that of any other nation. We should be even more thankful that the system under which we live is designed to raise those standards even higher in the future.

While other nations are at war, or remain precarious neutrals with armies poised on their borders, we in America look forward to a future growing before our eyes in the laboratories of industry, where new products and new services are being developed that will mean more jobs and payrolls.

But we must not merely be thankful. This opportunity is also an obligation. That obligation lies in our making every effort to use the advantages we have here to the utmost—not to be fainthearted, not to neglect the opportunities that exist here, not to abuse the freedom we are granted.

Thus Thaksgiving this year ought at once to be a day in which we count our blessings, and one on which we remember the responsibilities that are ours.—Contributed.

An Important Distinction

The recent indictment of the nominal head of the American Communist Party, Earl Browder, turns the spotlight upon the contrast between two ways of life and two habits of thought.

Browder has been indicted for travelling to Moscow on forged passports, an act which he frankly admitted in sworn testimony before the Dies Committee a short time ago. Now he is about to stand trial, protected by all the Constitutional rights that guarantees any citizen of this country, no matter how heinous his crime, a fair hearing.

Picture a similar situation if it had occurred under one of the systems under which these protections do not exist, and towards which Browder, if he had his way, would willingly drive this country. The victim would not receive an open and fair hearing but a star chamber proceeding, and as soon as the admission was drawn from him that he had used forged passports, the firing squad would be trotted out to do its work.

Yet, in this country where the rights of the individual are so jealously guarded, the followers of the Communist chief are even now complaining that he is being persecuted merely because he is a Red.

We trust—indeed, we know—that Browder will have his Constitutional right to a free trial. But it is important to make the distinction, so frequently and easily neglected by the enemies of this country as soon as they happen to step out of bounds, between the just protection of citizens and their "right" to violate the country's laws in the interest of undermining the very Constitution to which they so brazenly appeal.—Contributed.

Old Lie Repeated

Mr. Hoover recently sent the following telegram to Senator Capper:

"Over the radio in debate between you and Senator Schwellenbach, the Senator stated rightly that our Government must prevent hunger and cold among our citizens. With that I agree. But he continued to repeat the old lie that during my Administration I argued against such action by the Government.

"If you will refer to the press of the time, you will find that early in the depression, on October 17, 1930, I announced the formation of a national organization for unemployment relief, under Colonel Woods, stating at the time: 'As a nation we must prevent hunger and cold to those of our people who are in honest difficulties.' At my recommendation, Federal public works were doubled and other necessary organized relief was established.

"On February 3, 1931, on suggestion that these measures might prove inadequate, I stated: 'I am willing to pledge myself that if the time should ever come that voluntary agencies of the country together with local and State governments are unable to find resources with which to prevent hunger and suffering in my country, I will ask the aid of every resource of the Federal Government.'

"When, with the deepening of the depression, it became evident that support was necessary from the Federal Government, it was provided through large distribution of commodities to the states, and in 1932 the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, upon my recommendation, furnished large cash aid to the states.

"That relief was efficient; it was not the wasteful political organization that now dominates this country. There was certainly no more hardship in the country then, than there is today.

"I would greatly appreciate it if you would interest yourself in publicly correcting this continued misstatement of Senator Schwellenbach."

Senator Capper protested in the Senate.

EVEN ANIMALS ARE FEMININE IN THIS MOVIE

The one hundred per cent feminine cast of "The Women," starring Norma Shearer, Joan Crawford and Rosalind Russell is no joke.

The film, opening at the Nevada Theatre for an engagement of two days not only boasts a human cast of 135 females, but a feminine animal cast as well.

All saddle horses, dogs and cats appearing before the camera had to be of the "gentler" sex, and some twenty five bluebloods of this variety were required.

Every animal in the picture is of the feminine sex. These include 3 monkeys, Stupid, Dizzy and Featherbrain, which appear in the fashion show dressed in costumes duplicating those of the stars. Even photographs and art objects are all feminine. Books used in the library are all by women writers and no title is used which refers to a man.

Based on the Broadway hit play by Clare Boothe, the new picture has Norma Shearer in her first sophisticated modern role since "Riptide," Joan Crawford in her first "heavy" role and Rosalind Russell in a striking characterization as a vicious gossip. George Cukor directed.

SCOUT LEADERS TO ATTEND CAMP PAHATSI SCHOOL

Nearly forty patrol leaders and troop officers met last week-end at the Tahoe Area council camp on Lake Lilborn and received instruction in the elements of patrol leadership. The conference was the first of its kind held locally and resulted in a great deal of enthusiasm being developed for troop program building and leadership.

Featured in the course which was conducted by the scout executive and selected scout leaders of council troops was the Green Bar council method of troop administration. This plan of building troop meeting programs is the one used in nearly all sections of the country and is primarily designed to enable the natural troop leaders to develop the boys part of the program along natural lines.

The scouts met first on Saturday noon and opened the course with luncheon followed by a period of study and discusssion on patrol organization and leadership technique. An activity period of scout instruction through games followed after which the group assembled for instruction in drill and formations. Dinner was followed by another study group, this time on the Green Bar council and program building.

Sunday morning an hour's time was spent in making the camp clean and improving some of the minor details. A nature study period and methods of teaching judging was led by the camp naturalist Bruce Kimsey of Troop 1, Roseville, and another study period followed on general scouting information and question period. A discussion on scout oath and law closed the meeting which was followed by lunch.

The council provided the cook and general facilities of the camp as a part of its leadership training program. The following leaders were in attendance: Warran T. Eich, scoutmaster Troop 11, Roseville, Fred Stephen, assistant scoutmaster Troop 14, Roseville, Bruce Kimsey, assistant scoutmaster Troop 1, Merle Wiswell, committeeman Troop 21, Roseville and Edgar A. Williams, scout executive.

The following scouts registered for the course: Troop 1, Roseville, Luther Blankenship, Carl Murray, John Komsolas, Jack Southern, Troop 3, Auburn, Lafayette Burns, William Francis, Russ Seley, Dlebert Brown, Jack Napier; Troop 4, Grass Valley, Donn Bonham; Troop 7, Zeibrgiht mine, Herbert Brown; Troop 11, Roseville: John Festersen, Ken Hart, Jim Helmers, Billy McCarthy, Bob Mahen, Leonard Choate, James Purcell; Troop 14, Roseville; Walter Calvin, Gregory Collins, Jim Ford, Paul Abrahamson; Troop 21, Roseville, Don Wiswell, Tom McPherson, Peter Hasapis; Troop 31, Bowman, Vernon Hammond.

Due to the satisfaction expressed by those receiving the instruction it is planned to have another conference for patrol leaders next spring and have two such meetings annual affairs in the council leadership and training program.

Miss Betty Held and Kenneth Danzer of Alleghany were Nevada City visitors yesterday.

A HELPING HAND FOR ALL

American Red Cross Roll Call Poster for 1939.

JUST WONDERIN'

I wonder when the moon swings low
Above the far horizon's rim,
And all the shining stars of night
Before her radiance grow dim,
To see a golden pathway stretched
Across the ocean's tranquil breast
Which seems to lead far, far away
To magic isles of peace and rest.

I wonder if you remember having read a Baconian essay in which the great author extolled the exquisite pleasure experienced by one who stands, in safety, upon a commanding eminence and watches a battle raging furiously in the valley below. When I first read it, years ago, I knew instinctively, that Shakespeare was himself and Bacon just another man.

Shakespeare loved mercy and the sight of berserk humans engaged in deadly conflict, would have irked his artistic soul with rare disgust. The bard of Avon in his most athletic days, would have climbed no pinnacle just for the thrill of looking down upon a scene of unspeakable ugliness.

I wonder if you will now come with me—in fancy—and experience ecstacy in the contemplation of Nature's serene majesty and loveliness; we stand in a coign of a cliff overlooking the Pacific ocean; it is night—a moon hangs low in the western sky; it is a big, yellow moon and across the ocean's tranquil breast, lies a golden pathway, stretching from one sandy shore below us into the distant and unknown realms of infinity. We wonder where it would lead if we could follow; far, far away, past magic islands of the west, coral reefs and caves where mermaids dwell—far beyond Cathay, and then—amid the silvery clouds veiling the distant horizon we seem to see—the smiling towers and gleaming spires of T' yeer-nan'oge, the Land of Heart's Desire. For just an instant we hear its chiming bells and feel the soft caresses of its perfume laden air. Soon the vision fades, a cold wind comes up from the sea, our moment of high exhaltation is past; we turn regretfully homeward; but memory goes with us guarding something of rare beauty and excellence which will be our own forever.

I wonder if our dreams and visions of beauty and truth, faith and justice, are ever quite forgotten.

Over twenty years ago an Armistice was declared, and the great World War came to an end. Can anyone who realized its significance, ever forget the mad joy of that shining day? Humanity stood upon the mount of vision, and looked out over a turbulent sea which had suddenly become calm and beautiful; the golden pathway of hope led away from the hideous past, and men dreamed of a new world ruled by sanity and justice; a world through which the four horsemen would never ride again; a world wherein men were brothers, a world wherein aspiring souls could formulate plans for human happiness and well being and work unhindered for their full fruition. A world of peace—the miracle we thought had happened, the millennium was at hand.

The vision faded in the years that followed, dreams were broken, but the world could not forget. Sometime out of the hearts and minds of men will come a new and better way of life; and our vision of what the world should be will come true.

I hope we shall never fail to observe Armistice Day; of all the days we celebrate, it is the most truly significant, it holds the brightest hope for all the world. It appeals to the heart and conscience of mankind; it is a challenge to man's intelligence, his courage and will to do; from the memories it awakens, the hope it inspires, will come a better way of life.

—A. MERRIAM CONNER.

RED CROSS SOON OPENS DRIVE FOR MEMBERSHIP

The Nevada City Red Cross Chapter Roll Call Committee, under the leadership of Mrs. Arnold Jackson, is busy getting organized for the annual Roll Call which begins next Monday. Captains, workers, and any others who may be interested will meet at luncheon at the National Hotel next Monday noon; tickets are to be purchased at the National before five o'clock Saturday.

One of the finest and most varied radio programs ever to be broadcast may be heard on Saturday, November 11, between 7:30 and 8:40 p. m. Stars from all types of entertainment are contributing their time.

A million new members this year: that is the goal the American Red Cross has set for the nation wide annual roll call to start next Monday.

Why?

No, not war. Peace!

Peace, we feel—we must feel—is the normal condition of civilized mankind. So is health — vigorous, satisfying health which enables us to give and enjoy to the full in our work, our play, our family life. So is freedom from those accidents which result, as do most accidents, from our own or another's carelessness, ignorance, or lack of foresight. So is a shared confidence and belief in a helping hand in time of emergency; confidence that that hand will be extended to us when we need it; belief that only in extending that hand to others when they need it do we measure up to the true stature of humanity.

Individual initiative, local independence, neighborly helpfulness and large scale efficiency are ideally combined in the Red Cross organization. The local group must have the vision, the desire, the willingness to contribute. It may be that the group wishes to raise the community health level, and consequently the level of community happiness and efficiency, by making a trained nursing service available to all. The money can be found among them; some will give time if necessary; but how will they go about it? The Red Cross is ready. Trained personnel, tested methods, advice if asked for—all are at the group's disposal. So our own Nevada County Visiting Nurse service was born; so our high school class in home hygiene, which means a better life for the members of the class, a better start in life for their children; so our swimming and life saving classes, which mean not only lives saved but increased enjoyment of life for those who take part; so our emergency aid to the veteran, the transient, or other individual in need of a helping hand.

Ours is a better, safer, happier community because of the Red Cross. If our loved assembly of homes and businesses were to be laid waste tomorrow, we know that with telegraphic rapidity the friendly neighborhood spirit of the Red Cross would come to our aid. And in the days and years of safety and prosperity, we know that the Red Cross stands ready to help us work towards an increasingly healthier and happier community life. So are we ready to answer the Red Cross call to membership in their nation wide and world wide work.

BUCK TRIES TO MAKE FRIEND OF DICK LANE

"Whispering" Dick Lane feels that he is "enduring the outrageous flings of fortune." He hunted throughout the deer season and narrowly escaped being gored by a big brute, and never a deer killed. On Tuesday he went to the Feather River near Oroville fishing and enroute a huge six point buck nearly ran his car off the highway, just after deer season closed.

In the party fishing Tuesday were Will and Robert Tamblyn, A. Cartoscelli and Lane. All got the limit, two big salmon each, weighing 40 pounds or better. From good sources it was learned that the 25 pound salmon were thrown back into the river being not good enough for bait. Salmon are running fine and many limits are caught.

But—do you know that Meat is needed for the food elements it contains?

And do you know that our meats are right in Quality and Price?

EUROPE SPENDS MORE TIME IN WAR THAN PEACE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—During the neutrality debate in the Senate figures were placed in the Congressional Record. They impressed more than one in the debonair Capital City. Here is what they revealed:

In the some 155 years of American independence, the British Empire has fought 54 wars, lasting a total or 102 years or has been at war with someone for 69 per cent of the time that the United States has existed.

During this same period of 155 years the French have fought 53 wars. These lasted a total of 99 years. In other words France has been fighting somebody 66 per cent of the time that America was developing from an infant nation to the greatest and most prosperous nation in the history of the world.

And the man who compiled these figures pointed out that during a quarter of a century of this period England and France were fighting each other.

More than one agreed that this was the best evidence submitted to the Senate that war is chronic in Europe.

And military experts in Washington are snickering quietly at Americans who are worried over a possible Hitler victory. They point out that the crushing of the world's greatest empire (the British) and the world's Empire No. 2 (the French) is accomplished more easily on paper or vocally than on the battlefield or the high seas.

To the Americans who are fearful of a Hitler-Stalin invasion in the event of a doubtful German-Russian victory they recall that Chinese parable that: He who crushes two giants is himself well crushed.

These same military experts laugh outright at those who are apprehensive of American safety in the event of the surrender of the British fleet. The reason for the laughter is, they say, that the British fleet will never surrender. They point out that the end of the World War the Kaiser's High Seas Fleet surrendered between lines of British and American men of war—each line of warships being stronger than the fleet of ships being surrendered. And, at the time of the surrender there were two allied ships, with loaded guns, ready to open up at any moment upon any German ship which might show the slightest sign of fight.

Even though many more British warships are destroyed, and military experts say this will happen, Hitler and his Red ally will have no fleet able to enforce a surrender of the war dogs which fly the British flag.

ALL METHODIST WOMEN IN WEEK OF FELLOWSHIP

Borrowing their idea from Congressional committee hearings, the Methodist women throughout the United States on Tuesday, November 15, will sit in on an examination of the activities and accomplishments of their church in the fields of social, welfare and missionary work. In Nevada City Mrs. David Ralston is in charge of the local program.

The hearing, a united endeavor on the part of Methodist women meeting simultaneously in some 2,000 local churches, is a part of Fellowship Week, one of Methodism's annual observances. The week, designed to emphasize the story of the church's world-wide service, is sponsored by the Million Unit Fellowship Movement which was organized to stimulate spiritual life in the church and to provide a better financial underwriting for its missions and benevolences.

Planned by the women's department of the fellowship movement, the hearing will be the women's third annual "safari," or journey of exploration into the activities of the church's eight world service commissions. Mrs. J. M. Avann, head of the women's department, outlined the program plan for the united meetings, which will be carried out in each church by local women leaders.

Representatives of each commission will be summoned to appear before the local committee. They are the American Bible Society, the Board of Hospitals, Homes and Deaconess Work; the Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals; the Board of Pensions and Relief, the Board of Education, the Board of Home Missions and Church Extension, the Commission on World Peace, and the Board of Foreign Missions.

On the witness stand, each representative will explain the work of his commission and will answer questions, both from the committee and from the audience. Final witness in the hearing will be the "World Service Dollar," which will describe exactly how each part of each dollar contributed is used to extend Methodism's world service.

The hearings will be all day sessions and, at the luncheon recess, a special message to Methodist women from Miss Georgie Harkness, professor at Garrett Biblical Institute, Evanston, Ill., will be read.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

By BARBARA PHARISS

The Honor Society, composed of both the C. S. F. and honor roll, met Tuesday. Former plans for a progressive dinner were given up and a dinner will be held Friday at the high school instead. Members are being asked by the committee to bring food.

PEP RALLY TODAY

A spirited assembly will be held today in view of the annual contest with the Grass Valley Miners Saturday. A pep rally will be held in charge of the yell and song leaders. The band will probably play and the choruses will be heard. The Student Body is trying to learn their school hymn, "Gold and Purple" because at the end of the game each school will in turn sing their hymn.

The band has been practicing diligently for the past week. They will march Saturday morning in the Armistice Day parade and again in the afternoon at the game. During the game, the two bands will march out on the field and play "Little Jumbo," "Junior Warden" and "The Star Spangled Banner," in unison. The band will play throughout the game. Mary Libbey is the drum major, and Ralph Smith, the conductor.

The choruses, under the direction of Mrs. Libbey will appear in uniform with small purple and gold megaphones.

The main event of the day will be the football game at Hennessy Field between the Grass Valley Miners and the Nevada City Yellowjackets. The Miners, whose coach is Bill Wilson, have held the Nevada county championship for the past ten years. The 'Jackets have turned out quite a team and hope to change things this year. Coach Ed Frantz of the 'Jackets will lose many of his boys who are now seniors. They are: Williams, Schmidt, Angelini, Strach, Engstrom and Ruth.

Although the team did not start well at the beginning of the year, they have been turned into a real team, with constant practice. They have had only one victory so far. This will be their last game this season.

The boys hope to see a large group of town people out to see the tilt. When the school hymn is sung every one in the Nevada City bleachers are asked to stand with the high school members.

FIRE DEPARTMENT AUXILIARY

The Ladies Auxiliary of the fire department at their last meeting began plans for the annual New Years masked ball of the fire department. An extra effort will be made to have more costumes to add to the pleasure of the dancers.

MERCHANTS TO CLOSE LISTED

For 21 years the stores in Nevada City have closed all day on Armistice Day and this year will be no exception, it was decided last night at a special meeting of the Chamber of Commerce. Yesterday a petition was circulated among the merchants of the city and enough signatures were obtained to warrant calling the meeting.

Virtually every merchant in Nevada City, restaurants excluded, were represented either on the petition or at the special meeting. The members expressed a desire that the Grass Valley merchants would also close all day, since it has been an annual custom until this year.

The petition and signers signifying their intention to close are as follows:

I hereby agree to close Armistice Day, November 11, all day—

TRAFFIC MENACE ON HIGHWAY TO BE ELIMINATED

Street Superintendent Herbert Hallett and crew will make improvements in the northern part of the city during the winter. A rough strip of roadway across and northeast of the Dr. A. H. Tickell home is to be cut down in the spring with the assistance of the state division of highways according to present plan. This "hump" is eight feet at the highest point and is bad for cars making the turn from the Tahoe-Ukiah highway into the county hospital road. The sewer lines and the water mains will be dug out and placed deeper in the earth. The season is too short this fall to attempt the work and would only mean a muddy strip for winter travel.

NORTH SAN JUAN P.T.A. WILL GIVE BENEFIT DANCE

The North San Juan Parent Teacher Association is giving a benefit dance in their city Saturday evening to assist a family who had their home and contents destroyed by fire in that section recently. The price of admission to the dance will be 50 cents a couple.

The funds raised in this way will be used to pay for materials for a home. A lumber company in the district gave lumber at cost and North San Juan residents went in a body and held a house raising bee last Sunday. Many people have donated stove, bedding, cooking utensils and other necessary things. The father of the family is ill and every effort is being made to make them comfortable throughout the winter.

MASONIC COMMANDERY

Nevada Commandery conferred the order of the Temple on a candidate in the Masonic hall in Nevada City last evening. Refreshments were enjoyed after the meeting. Phillip Keast of Grass Valley is commander of the local lodge.

Fred A. Austin of Alleghany was among a large group of sorrowing friends who came to Nevada City yesterday afternoon to attend the funeral of the late Charles Godfrey. Mr. Austin is bookkeeper at the 16-to-1 mine where Godfrey was employed.

Mrs. E. J. Haverstock returned yesterday from Glens Ferry, Idaho, where she spent some time visiting her brother and family. While there she went fishing, deer hunting and pheasant hunting. Mrs. Haverstock will leave Saturday for Taft where she plans to make her home.

Dick Parsons, who is employed by the state at Hornbrook, arrived in Nevada City Monday evening and remained until today visiting his parents, Mr and Mrs. C. E. Parsons.

EVANGELINE CHAPTER ELECTS NEW OFFICER

Evangeline Chapter, O. E. S., held election of officers Tuesday evening and the following were chosen: Miss Ruth Tamblyn, worthy matron; Clyde M. Gwin, worthy patron; Mrs. Doris Foley, associate matron; Walter Carlson, associate patron; Mrs. Margaret Bosworth, conductress; Mrs. Elfreda Lawrence, associate conductress; Mrs. Kate Stenger, treasurer; Miss Alice Cooper, secretary. Five candidates were initiated into the order. Mrs. Esther Joyal, worthy matron, entertained in honor of her officers and presented a gift to each one.

Visitors were present from several chapters including Sacramento and Manila, Philippine Islands. Mr. Gibbon, army officer coming from the Philippine Islands and now in charge of CCC camp work, made a most interesting talk. He has traveled in Siberia, India and many other countries. He spoke briefly on many places and people. He stated the women in the United States live under better political and social conditions than in any other country.

Refreshments were served on gaily decorated tables. Many colored gourds and autumn leaves were used for decorations.
